HOSPITAL FUND GROWS RAPIDLY

More Than $73,000 Has Been Raised by Committee for New Emergency.

TOTAL FOR DAY $11,933.83

Mrs. W. H. Brownson Gives $5,000, the Largest Contribution of the Day.

Encouraging results from the extensive plans laid during the opening days of the twelve days' campaign for the raising of $200,000 for the erection of a new Emergency Hospital became apparent yesterday at the daily luncheon held at headquarters in the old Cafe Republic, Fifteenth and F Streets Northwest. The reports of the chairman, at the various tables of workers all showed increased activity, and when the figures were added up the total for the day was found to be $11,933.83. This brings the total amount up to $73,000.

A pathetic story of a contribution made by a little seven-year-old girl, emphasizing in a remarkable manner the widespread popularization of the crusade, was told at the luncheon by A. C. Moses, captain of Team G. The central figure of the story is little Ethel Wagenheim, an orphan, living at 2124 Fourteenth Street Northwest. Ethel was born in Lithuania, in the state of Curia, one of the Baltic provinces, seven years ago. Three years ago a dreadful epidemic of typhoid fever swept through the province, leaving an appalling toll of death in its wake. Ethel's father and mother were among those who fell victims to the dread malady. Although she was then a very little girl, Ethel still remembers that sad day when she bade good-bye to her mamma and papa forever.

In August, 1910, Ethel's big sister brought her and her other little brothers and sisters over to America, and they were located in Washington. About six months ago Ethel was playing on Fourteenth Street, not far from her home, when she suddenly noticed on the pavement a roll of real money smiling invitingly at her. She picked it up, and, although a very little girl, she managed to figure out that there were nine $1 bills there. It was in front of the drug store of George W. Hurlbush, at Fourteenth and V Streets Northwest, so Ethel, not knowing what else to do, walked in, and holding out the bills to the druggist, said in her childish voice with broken accent: "Mister, who lost these dollars?" The pharmacist made an attempt to learn who really lost them, but without avail, so he told Ethel that they were rightfully hers unless claimed by some one. The little girl was delighted to learn this, and ran home to put the money safely away.

A day or so ago she was at the establishment of her uncle, a jeweler, in Fourteenth Street, and happened to notice in his copy of The Herald a cut of the big clock which is tracing progress in the money-raising campaign.

"Uncle," said the little girl, "this clock is not like the ones you make. It has only one hand."

The uncle explained its meaning, and told of the campaign now in progress. "Uncle," she answered, "if there had been a hospital when my mamma and papa were sick, they wouldn't have died, would they?" The jeweler replied that in all probability they would not have.

"Well then, uncle," she said, "I'm going to give that $9 I found to help build this hospital, and to keep some other little girl's mamma and papa from dying."

One of the members of Mr. Moses' team received the $9 yesterday through the medium of the druggist.

Moses' Team Wins Cup.
Mr. Moses' team was awarded the silver loving cup presented each day to the team reporting the largest number of subscriptions. He announced 130 pledges. Team D, captained by George W. White, received the cup awarded daily to the group of workers securing the largest amount. Mr. White reported a total of $5,564.

Edgar T. Honey, executive secretary, stated last night that the staff of physicians, surgeons, and specialists connected with the hospital give gratis to the organization annually in services an amount equaling the cost of erecting the proposed new structure.

"There are sixty-one physicians, surgeons, and specialists at the institution," said Mr. Honey. "During the past year 24,239 patients were treated and 5,848 operations were performed. Fixing the customary cost per visit at $2 and the average rate of an operation at $25, a little multiplication shows that $211,746 in services is given to the institution gratis each year. When it is considered that these professional gentlemen perform many very intricate and expensive operations in addition, it would be safer to place the figures around $200,000. If these physicians are willing to contribute so much in services, certainly the people of the city, as a whole, should be willing to contribute something at least, however small the amount might be."

The reports of the various teams yesterday were as follows: Team A, Huntington Jackson, captain, eleven subscriptions, total, $43; team B, Lawrence O. Murray, captain, eight subscriptions, total, $35; team C, Harry King, captain, nine subscriptions, total, $28; team D, George W. White, captain, twenty-five subscriptions, total, $5,564; team E, J. H. Metzger, captain, eight subscriptions, total, $20; team G, A. C. Moses, captain, 130 subscriptions, total, $5,564; team I, Dr. W. P. Carr, captain, sixty-five subscriptions, total, $1,004; team M, F. A. Gibson, captain, twenty-two subscriptions, total, $33.50; and team P, E. J. Earnshaw, captain, one subscription of $15.

Among the largest subscriptions announced yesterday were the following: Mrs. Willard H. Brownson, $5,000; W. P. Bee, $1,000; The Evening Star, $1,000; The Washington Post, $1,000; Mrs. Marshall Field, $500.

New Department Seal.
The Department of Commerce has a new seal, which was made necessary by the division of the Department of Commerce and Labor. The symbol, which was devised by Secretary Redfield, consists of a shield, the upper half of which is adorned by a ship with all sail set, and the lower half by a lighthouse shedding rays of light. An American eagle is above the crest.

Woman Sues for Divorce.
On the ground of misconduct, Mrs. Frances E. Baden has filed a suit for absolute divorce from her husband, Marion Baden. A correspondent is named. The wife seeks the custody of their one child.

Occupants to Have Tag.
Capt. Mark Brooks, Assistant Engineer Commissioner, and W. H. Whitaker, superintendent of the workhouse at Occoquan, had a conference yesterday concerning the purchase of a tugboat for that institution. An item of $25,000 is contained in the District appropriation bill for the purchase of the boat.

LYCEUM BUILDING ANTEDATED JOHNSON

Original Theater Structure Was Built in 1804, Says Mr. Mudd in Letter to The Herald.

Editor Washington Herald: In an article in The Herald about the death of Jacob Johnson, stage manager of the Lyceum Theater, the statement is made that "The erection of the present building, in 1888, was superintended by Mr. Johnson."

It was erected many years before he came to Washington. The original building was erected during 1803 and 1804 by a number of prominent citizens of Washington, with Maj. John P. Van Ness, Samuel Harrison Smith, Robert Brent, William Bent, and Thomas Law as a board of directors, and was opened Friday, November 16, 1804, under the name of the Washington Theater.

It was burned on the morning of April 19, 1829. In 1821 Lewis Cass bought the ground on which the walls stood and some adjacent ground, and rebuilt the theater, using the old walls, and in 1822 opened it as the Washington Assembly Rooms. It was used for concerts, panoramas, etc. Mr. Carus was a dancing master and also used it for dancing academy.

When the National Theater burned in 1857, this theater was again opened as the Washington Theater by a Mr. Marshall, of New York, with Dion Boucicault as manager. It afterward became the Comique, etc., but it has never been rebuilt since 1822. The entrance was changed from Eleventh Street to Pennsylvania Avenue when it became the Comique.

STUDENTS OF WAR TACTICS.

College Students Here to Go Into Camp at Gettysburg.

In response to the announcement by the War Department that the undergraduates in the George Washington University are eligible to take the special course of training as army officers in the War Department's camp at Gettysburg this summer, inquiries from several students have reached Capt. R. O. Van Horn, at the War Department, or have been sent to the secretary of the school, Richard Cobb, at university headquarters, in G Street.

The undergraduates want to take advantage of the training offered at the experimental camps which is offered them without a formal enlistment in the army. The scheme to be instituted this summer at the instance of Secretary of War Garrison provides for the training of the college men in the duties of a young officer in the army, particularly with regard to his duties in the time of war. Regular officers of the United States army will serve as instructors at the Gettysburg camp.

Last Belmont Fete Arranged.

Barber, who was very much interested in the cause of woman suffrage, and who had often given her home for social meetings. As attractions there will be refreshments, music, speaking, and sales.

Gen. Nelson A. Miles Camp, No. 1, Spanish War Veterans, will have charge of the memorial services to be held this year at the Government Hospital for the Insane on the afternoon of Sunday, May 25, at Poplar Spring, in the asylum grounds. Charles J. P. Weber is chairman of the committee on arrangements. The eleventh anniversary of the Christian and Elvira Rupert Home, in Anacostia, will be celebrated May 21. The board of directors, Simon Wolfe, president, and the Ladies Aid Society, are in charge of the affair.

CHILDREN ARE DISCUSSED.

Dr. Louise T. Jones Gives Advice to Parents of Banneker Pupils.

That too frequent feeding is the cause of considerable illness among children was the argument advanced by Dr. Louise Taylor Jones, medical inspector in the public schools, before the parents of the Banneker School Thursday evening.

Dr. Jones said that children should be fed regularly, but not frequently. She also laid stress upon having inviting surroundings—clean tablecloths and clean dishes especially on the table. She urged parents to break the children of the habit of candy eating, and suggested that the child be given candy after meals as a desert. This would prevent him wanting it between meals. Dr. Jones spoke of the necessity of rest immediately before and after meals.

Principal Arthur Newman, of the Cardozo Vocational School, made a plea for the boy and girl who is unable to continue his schooling. Dr. W. S. Montgomery and R. H. Ashton spoke also. The meeting was held under the auspices of the Home and School Association of Banneker Building. John C. Payne is principal.
